

OZ, design Nicola Gallizia, un prodotto che da vero divano si trasforma con estrema facilità in un comodo letto. Una trasformazione possibile grazie ad un meccanismo brevettato di nuova concezione facilissimo da utilizzare grazie a servomeccanismi dedicati. Infatti nel passaggio tra le due funzioni non viene estratto solo il piano letto ma anche i braccioli laterali scompaiono “magicamente” sotto la struttura trasformando il divano in un vero letto composto da sola testata e schienale. Anche lo schienale dispone di due posizioni per consentire un corretto utilizzo a secondo della funzione scelta. L'aspetto esteriore si caratterizza per la scelta di utilizzare materiali innovativi come un tessuto trapuntato dall'originale trama con trapuntature colorate in contrasto con il tessuto utilizzato. Tecnologia, funzionalità e design alla massima potenza per OZ, come solo Molteni&C sa proporre.

Nicola Gallizia Born in Milan, Nicola Gallizia attended the Architecture Faculty at the Milan Politecnico. From 1990 to 1999 he worked with Luca Meda as assistant for the image and products for Molteni&C and Dada, companies for which he still works as image consultant and product developer. He has been art director and designer for the Camera group since 1999. For Penta he designed the lamps Wood (2000), China (2002) and Jei-Jei (2004). He has been working with Pitti Living since 2001 on fittings for exhibitions. In 2003 he took over responsibility for the image of Molteni&C., with particular attention to the new graphics project and the product catalogues, from their conception to the stand fittings for major fairs, and the design and fitting out of several stores. He designed the collection Domino for Molteni&C in 2004. In 2005 he opened the studio CZ36 in Milan, from where he designs and creates interiors.
